ONCE UPON AN EMPTY STOMACH, MANY MEALS AGO, TWO BIG GUYS CAME UP WITH A BIG IDEA. NOT AN EARTH-SHAKING IDEA, MIND YOU – MORE LIKE A “WHY HASN’T IT ALWAYS BEEN THIS WAY” SORT OF NOTION. THESE GUYS KNEW HOW TO APPRECIATE THE GOOD THINGS IN LIFE, AND IT SHOWED.

They had a vision of a sit-down place with a comfortable, stylish feel – an oasis where hardworking people could relax and eat mouth-watering food. The only thing the big guys needed was a spot to make it happen.

Meanwhile, in a faraway shopping center just beyond Hog Mountain, a new restaurant appeared: “Slices,” a respectable joint specializing in gourmet ... fish. No, not pizza. Fish. Not enough golf fans around these parts. Well, not long after most folks realized what the place wasn’t serving, the owners passed it on to another aspiring restaurateur, who reintroduced it as a sushi joint dubbed “Denji of Japan.” Ask any native Georgian to pronounce this name, and we can guarantee it’s going to come out sounding like “dingy.” It was a beautiful place without a snowball’s chance in you know where. So, the doors closed once again. Sayonara, Denji.

The two big guys watched all of this happen, waiting for their dream to marinate into an opportunity. They’d been thinking. And planning. And eating. And finally, they got their chance. Fatso’s was born in the faraway shopping center just beyond Hog Mountain. Right next to a gym, of all things.

Today, the big guys swell with pride, sharing their dream with lunch and dinner guests from the far reaches of the Gwinnett County kingdom. Their only wish now is that you enjoy yourself. So order up some of Fatso’s amazing made-from-scratch grub, wind down with your favorite drink, and live it up with the big guys.
